BOOK REVIEW

Immortal in Death

BY J.D. ROBB aka Nora Roberts

Review by Mystery Loves History aka sci-fi/fantasy writer
Gail Daley

It was a pleasure Re-reading this one. It reminded me of why I first liked it so much. Now well-established relationships with ace reporter Nadine Furst, Trina the one person who can put fear into Eve, the faithful Peabody, etc. are in the formative stage here. Eve and Roarke are still feeling their way into their relationship. Plus all those things, we get a bent cop, a deadly new illegal drug, high fashion... Whole lot of fun

AMAZON SAYS:

In the third novel in the #1 New York Times bestselling In Death series, Lieutenant Eve Dallas uncovers a world where technology can create beauty and youth, but passion and greed can destroy them...

She was one of the most sought-after women in the world. A top model who would stop at nothing to get what she wanted—even another woman's man. And now she was dead, the victim of a brutal murder. Police Lieutenant Eve Dallas put her life on the line to take the case when suspicion fell on her best friend, the other woman in the fatal love triangle. Beneath the façade of glamour, Eve found that the world of high fashion thrived on an all-consuming obsession for youth and fame. One that led from the runway to the dark underworld of New York City where drugs could be found to fulfill any desire—for a price...

SEBASTOPOL CENTER FOR THE ARTS 2022 EXHIBITS

MAY. Reverberations II: A follow-up to the 2018 exhibition, “Reverberations, a Visual Conversation,” Reverberations II will feature the work of 50 visual _____artists who have been invited to create work in conversation with an assigned poem.

JUNE: Art at the Source Preview Exhibition: Each artist participating in this June open studio event brings one piece of artwork to the gallery. Visitors enjoy the preview before driving off to the studios of their choice.

JULY-AUG. Abstract: This juried exhibition showcases the best in local and international _____abstract art.

AUG-SEPT. Pulp: This biennial juried exhibition shows the best in book arts. This year we give a special place to paper, a common material with great history and almost infinite uses.

SEPTEMBER. Sonoma County Art Trails Open Studios: Each artist participating in Art Trails Open Studios brings one piece of artwork to the SebArts gallery, creating a preview exhibit for this beloved open studios event.

OCT-NOV. Our Natural World: This juried show offers a great opportunity for landscape artists, but also invites artists to expand their interpretations of the natural world beyond traditional landscape painting.

DECEMBER. Members Exhibit: A fun and inclusive, once-a-year gathering of artwork by our members. Non-juried.

Flowers are mostly repetitive shapes or forms, so once you get the formula down for a certain flower, you are good.

1. Generic Rose Tip: When drawing a rose think of the silhouette.

It's asymmetrical

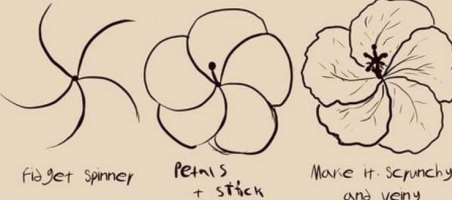

Center of rose is a spiral    Petals fan out    Yay

2. Hibiscus Tip: 5 petals all going in same direction.

TEARS OF HONOR

A sweeping novel of history, war, and courage in the face of injustice, Tears of Honor tells the story of the heroic Japanese American soldiers who fought against Nazi tyranny in Europe, while their families were imprisoned in America.

Europe, while their families were imprisoned in America.

Sammy and Freddy are two all-American boys in the summer of 1941, dreaming of becoming professional baseball players and maybe asking a girl to the senior prom. But when the war comes, Sammy Miyaki, Freddy Shiraga, and their families are seen as enemy aliens, not Americans.

In San Francisco and Washington, General John DeWitt and Major Karl Bendetsen (the actual historical architects of the Japanese internment order) wage a bureaucratic war to persuade the government to give legal sanction to their plans to detain the Japanese population.

As the Miyaki and Shiraga families are taken from their homes and placed in internment camps, Sammy and Freddy decide the only way to prove their loyalty to America is to join the Army.

Assigned to an all-Japanese American combat unit fighting against the Germans, Sammy and Freddy are placed under the command of the combat-hardened Lieutenant Young Oak Kim (a real-life person and one of the most highly decorated American soldiers in history), who leads them through some of the fiercest fighting of the war. Sammy, Freddy, and their comrades confront the prejudice of white soldiers and the horrors of combat, as they come to realize they are fighting not just for the United States, but for the honor of all Japanese Americans.

SHOWCASE ARTIST / PHOTOGRAPHER

MYRNA AXT — ASSEMBLAGE/MIXED MEDIA

I've always been creative, but it wasn't until 2009 that I began developing as an artist. I'm consciously involved in creating art and boldly discovering what I kept inside for so many years.

My art is mixed media, collage and assemblage-found object sculpture. It's creating two and three-dimensional compositions, putting together found objects, altered bits and pieces, along with my imagery.

I revamp, up-cycle and repurpose, from my pallet of junk. There is something magical about taking something ordinary, worn, or dilapidated, and reviving it into something extraordinary. It's developing a unique voice, hoping to draw an emotional response from the viewer.

I was born and raised in San Joaquin Valley and I first entered local art scene, 10/09.

ARE YOU READY FOR AN ART SHOW?

BY THE PRACTICAL ARTIST / WRITER

www.thepracticalartist.com

There are a number of art shows coming up this spring. It's time to ask yourself if you and your art are ready to be seen, and why you should take a chance on entering. Art competitions add creditability to your portfolio. Entering and being accepted shows that you are serious about your art. It has the added benefit of exposure to the art world. If you are relatively unknown as an artist, an art show is one of the easiest ways to put your work in front of the maximum amount of people in a short space of time. You should pick your competitions wisely, however. Take a look at the events track record with regard to your target market. If you are marketing your art to the illustrative or decorative market (cups, plates, clothing), you should be entering shows or competitions that are in that industry, not fine art competitions. Typically, most art competitions produce an entry form called a Prospectus. Read it carefully to make sure that your work will meet acceptance standards as to hanging requirements and other criteria. And PLEASE, make sure of the following: your frame is clean and in good repair (a dusty, dirty frame shows a lack of respect for your own work!), if your work is under glass, take the time to clean the glass before bringing it to a show! Not doing these things is the equivalent of sending your children to a fancy party in the same clothes they raked leaves in!

An artist is most likely to hear a critique of their work at a juried show. Are you mentally and emotionally prepared to have your work criticized or perhaps not accepted? Entering a juried show means you are putting your art out there to be judged. You should always enter what you consider to be your best work to date. Keep in mind though, that your art may not be accepted into the show. Does this mean that you are a poor artist? Or that your art is "bad"? Not necessarily. A juried art show is a subjective format and there are many reasons why your art might not have been accepted. It may simply mean that the space to display art was limited. Perhaps the art was good, but your presentation (framing/matting) detracted from your art and the judge preferred art that was better presented. Or maybe this just wasn't your best work. Just because a show is classed as “open” might not mean that they are looking for your type of art to represent their show. If you are entering into a show that caters to representational art and your art falls into another genre such as abstract or illustration, perhaps you need to look for art shows and venues that appreciate the type of art you create.

If your art wasn't accepted by the judge into the show, you might consider having an artist whose opinion you respect critique the work for you. Informed criticism can be helpful. Please note that I said “Informed” criticism; the person who does the critiquing should be a more experienced artist with some knowledge of technique and the principles of art. We love them, but the opinions of our friends and family who don't know any more than we do about art, really aren't useful as critiques.

In some local shows, the judge may offer critiques as they judge, and a member of the art group putting on the show will have been assigned to follow and write down what is said. If you would like the judge to critique your work, you should approach the show chair as ask if this is permissible. If the judge offers a critique of your work, please pay attention. This person was thought of highly enough by your local art peers to be paid to make choices and approve or disapprove the art presented to him or her. Above all, don't take this type of rejection personally. If the judge doesn't offer critiques while they are judging, (some of them prefer to do this privately) sometimes it is permissible to privately approach the judge and politely ask them what they liked or disliked about your work. If the judge is gracious enough to do this, always thank him or her, and please, please, don't argue with their opinion even if you don't agree with it.

Nationally known artists get rejected from shows also. Sometimes the judge just doesn't like the subject matter or maybe he/she doesn't care for the colors, or the shape, etc. Above all however, you should trust your own instincts. If you feel a piece of art is good, don't give up on it, enter it into another show with a different judge and see if you get a different decision.
